Several federal programs provide protections for legal or undocumented immigrants who have been victims of crime. CLASI can help you understand whether you are eligible to apply for legal immigration status under any of these programs.

ARE YOU A VICTIM OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE?

Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) petition

- You have been abused by a U.S. Citizen or Permanent Resident; and
- The abuser is your spouse, parent, or child; and
- You are a person of good moral character.

HAVE YOU
BEEN A
VICTIM OF A SERIOUS CRIME?

U visa

- A crime was committed against you in the U.S., including domestic violence; and
- You have suffered injury from the crime; and
- You have information about what happened to you; and
- You share(d) that information with law enforcement (e.g. Division of Family Services, the police, the Attorney General's office, or the courts).

ARE YOU A VICTIM OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING?

T visa

- Another person has forced you to engage in activities such as prostitution, pornography, violence, forced labor, or slavery (known as "trafficking"); and
- You are in the U.S. because of the trafficking; and
- You cooperated with law enforcement (if you are 18 years or older); and
- You would suffer great hardship or harm if you are forced to leave the U.S.

ARE YOU A CHILD UNDER 18 WHO HAS
DECLARED DEPENDENT?

Special Immigrant Juvenile Status

- You are younger than 18 years old; and
- You are in long term foster care, or have been declared dependent due to abuse, or abandonment/neglect by one or both of your parents; and
- The Family Court does not think that reunification with your mother and/or father is in your best interests.
